

A BIG MISTAKE.

In nearly all the Democratic journals of the State the name of M. D. Howell (Dem.) is mentioned as a member of the Assembly from Lincoln county. Matt Howell is an old pioneer of the coast; a well known mining man; known all over the State; formerly in the mercantile business with S. C. Fogus, of Reno, and of the old firm of "Howell, Black & Bro.," of Virginia City, and later connected with the principal mining companies of Eastern Nevada. Now what we want to arrive at is how the name of M. D. Howell has appeared as a Democrat in the Democratic press of the State, and one among them, the Eureka Sentinel, when we all know him to be a Republican, and one of the roughest that ever lived. Furthermore, he has not resided in Lincoln county for two years, and was then the nominee on the Republican ticket for State Senator, and his name must in some manner or other been misconstrued with that of his son's, Eugene Howell, who is the present Assemblyman from that county and whom, we are sorry to add, has sadly departed from the earlier teachings he received. We simply make this in defense of that staunch old Republican, Matt Howell, as we do not know how the mistake was made, nor why, as he is at present operating in Southern California, and were he to see his name heralded around as a Democrat, would be tempted to wipe out of existence the whole Democratic press of the State.

The late elections resulted in largely increasing the number of new Democratic Governors in the Union. The youngest of all the candidates elected to this high office was Robert E. Pattison, the Democratic nominee in Pennsylvania, who was chosen by a plurality of about 40,000, in consequence of the split in the Republican party. The man who thus succeeds to the Chief Magistracy of the great Keystone State is not yet thirty-two years old, having been born at Snow Hill, Md., on the 8th of December, 1850. The son of a Methodist clergyman, he had a good "bringing up," and came to manhood a well-educated and solidly-grounded character. Admitted to the Bar at Philadelphia in 1872, his friends soon pushed him forward as a candidate for political honors, and in 1877 he was elected City Comptroller. A young fellow then of but twenty-five years, he soon proved his capacity and independence, and made so excellent a record during his first term that he was triumphantly re-elected by the help of Republican votes in 1880, and is now called still higher by his admiring fellow citizens.

The saddle which was made for President Garfield just before his assassination has been presented by General Swain to the managers of the Garfield Monument Fair at Washington. The saddle is an exquisite specimen of workmanship, and is of the most recent pattern. It is of white leather, with patent stirrup-leather irons and large stirrups, and combines great strength with lightness. The saddle will probably net a handsome sum by being raffled for.

An amusing charge against Cleveland during the recent campaign in New York was that he had been Sheriff of the county in which he lives and thereby ex-officio hangman. It was asserted with great positiveness that the people of New York would never elect a hangman to be Governor, but they did.

Senator Pendleton's Civil Service Reform bill has suddenly become very popular among the Department clerks in Washington since the Democratic scoop. At the same time it is said Pendleton has lost ground with his own party in Ohio in consequence of advocating the measure.

The Reno JOURNAL favors the proposition of making the Lieutenant Governor ex-officio Warden. [Carson Tribune.]

The Tribune man is mistaken. The JOURNAL favors the Board of Prison Commissioners having absolute control of Prison officers and affairs.

The annual report of the Treasury Department shows the receipts of the Government, exclusive of the public debt during the fiscal year which ended June 30, to have been $403,525,250; expenditures, exclusive of redemption of the public debt, $257,881,439.

The Anti-Monopolists express a preference for Thurman and Reagan, and Windom and Cornell, as the 1884 nominees.

President Arthur is busily engaged on his message. It will be a good one.

Sentinels are still guarding the tomb of General Garfield.

THE REMOVAL OF THE PRISON AND OTHER STATE MATTERS.

But a month will elapse before the Legislature will be in session at Carson. Ordinary prudence in the management of State affairs will suggest measures for the relief of taxpayers and for a reduction of expenses to the lowest possible minimum compatible with the administration of justice and proper maintenance of good government. Many of the reforms necessary can only be secured by amending the Constitution, involving a delay of four years. Coming within this province are the matters relating to the consolidation of certain State offices, some of which are no more needed than a fifth wheel to a wagon. The pruning knife can probably be applied in a few cases not protected by the organic law, and overlooked by the last Legislature, but the saving thus effected will be comparatively trifling.

The greatest item of expense to the State in the past have been the care and support of the insane, and the cost and maintenance of the State Prison. The first of these has been provided for in such a manner as must save the State from $10,000 to $20,000 per annum. It is now in order to discuss and decide upon the Prison question. It is very evident to all who have made the subject a study that as the matter now stand the Prison is and must ever remain a perpetual expense of $50,000 per annum to the State. There are many cogent reasons why the Prison should be removed to the State grounds at Reno. But for the egregious blunder of Bradley and his fellow Commissioners, the institution would now be at Reno, and the expenses of maintaining it more than one-half less than what they now are. Their mistake consisted in commencing at the wrong end first. Had the $100,000 or as much thereof as was necessary, been applied in the construction of quarters, cells, etc., instead of the walls, the convict labor could have been employed to advantage, and the State would have had the institution in complete running order for the sum expended in building the walls. With the Prison at Reno the labor of the convicts would be of value to the State, but experience has demonstrated that there is no profit in hewing granite or making boots and shoes at Carson. At Reno the State can farm out the labor at a price which will net nearly $20,000 per annum. But the true policy would be to utilize the water from the Truckee river and employ the convict labor in making boxes and cheap articles of furniture. In this line of goods the cost of the material does not represent sixty per cent, of the saleable price; the labor is worth the greater portion. In the manufacture of boots and shoes the leather represents twice as much as the labor. The Nevada and Oregon Railroad will soon tap the finest section of timber land on the Pacific coast. This lumber can be brought to Reno, and with the aid of the convict labor, manufactured into articles finding a ready sale. The box and mill men at Truckee could not supply as good an article at as low a price, and hence it follows that the State could work its prisoners and not only make them earn their daily bread, but also return an additional profit. Those not employed in the kind of labor indicated could be profitably employed in cultivating the land, in performing work of benefit to their insane neighbors, and generally a class of labor indispensable around such institutions. In fact, by having the two together, each could be made to be of help to the other, in various sorts of ways, greatly to the benefit of the State, so that in time, both institutions would become self-sustaining. When this shall be accomplished, and other necessary reforms are carried out, there will be no State tax in Nevada.

PUBLIC LAND GRABBERS.

The Way in Which They Thrive in California—Bona Fide Settlers Wronged by Them.

The New York Herald, editorially, says:

According to the last annual report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, large portions of the public domain are unlawfully taken possession of in many of the Western States by action of rich influential land pirates to the great injury and detriment of all bona fide settlers. In California it appears that this evil prevails to a greater extent than in any other part of the Union. Thousands and thousands of acres, it is asserted, are illegally inclosed there by brush fences, and the ownership of them is asserted against immigrants and settlers, who, if they attempt to take up farms within these fraudulent boundaries, are harassed in the courts, which, as a rule, are on the side of the land grabbers. This is an outrage which the General Government should promptly redress. The public land is a sacred trust for the benefit not only of this generation but of the generations that are to come. If these speculators will settle down and cultivate the 80 or 100 acres to which each one of them is legally entitled, all right; but they should not be permitted to seize that to which they have no just right or title. They might just as well rob the treasury vaults in Washington or Wall street as steal the public land.

Thurlow Weed's condition has been changed for the worse. His demise is but a question of time.

The American Girl the Prettiest.

The English women are by consent the most beautiful in the world; but American girls are the prettiest. It is all in the family, no doubt, and very proud we should be of the relationship; but we must acknowledge that a good many agencies have been at work to complete that most perfect of created beings—an American girl. She has in her veins the blood of the Celt and the primitive German; she is partially French, Dutch, Scotch, Irish, Welsh; there is the voluptuous grace of the Italian woman in her gliding walk, and—always except in America—you don't often see such feet and ankles out of Spain. Fixed on our eye remains the picture of a very typical American young lady, as we saw her making her last courtesy for the season to London society. The rooms are among the prettiest in town, and many of our prattiest women are gracing the scene with their presence. But our gaze has rested on no one of them with such unalloyed satisfaction as on a certain figure, standing for the moment solitary—her partner has just been sent away on some trifling errand—framed in a sort of bow of mosses, ferns and feathery grasses. Her head is gently declined, as though in contemplation of her bouquet, with which the fingers of her right hand are toying in seeming unconsciousness. Her form is slight and willowy, but its flowing and perfect proportions remove any suspicion of sickness or weakness. The arms, guiltless of bracelet, are slender but beautifully rounded and dimpled; the corsage of the frock—a veritable dream dress, soft, cream-like, delicate, indefinable in tints and texture—satisfactorily filled. The line of features from forehead to chin is classically Grecian; the complexion pure white, save for a single spot in the middle of each cheek, so even and regular that they might be supposed to have been laid on by art, were they not of that liquid transparent carmine which art has never yet compassed. We notice particularly the elegant shape of the head, and the long throat and softly-sloping shoulders. The hair, delicately fine and silky, and wanting but one ray more of sunlight to be the color of pure gold, is more loosely arranged than present fashion dictates; and a few rosebuds are scattered among the tresses with exquisite abandon, as though some random breeze had left them there, and they had remained in perfumed adherence. This is a picture drawn with a rough hand of the American debutante of this year—perhaps, were all of the suffrages fairly taken, of the belle par excellence of the season.—London Life.

Jim Budd's Fight.

A Stockton paper reports Congressman-elect Budd as giving the following account of his canvass at a recent jollification meeting there:

He said he had made the fight with no money—a horse and a buckboard, a clean collar and an extra necktie constituting his political outfit. He told, how, as the fight progressed, he left some jewelry with a friend—for safe keeping—receiving $200 in exchange therefor, and how, at Grass Valley, he entrusted his diamond pin to a friend—voluntarily—that he might obtain another $100, which was easier to keep than the pin, and more useful in the canvass, for a man must live, even if he was running for Congress. He had made the fight without money, had not taken a drink during the canvass, and now that he had won, the friends of both parties should not be ashamed that they had voted for Jim Budd.

Advertising Medium.

The advertising columns of the JOURNAL afford an excellent opportunity to our readers to study out where purchases of all kinds can be made on the most advantageous terms. All classes of goods can there be found advertised from a suit of clothes or nice silk dress to the daintiest ornament in the jewelry line. The JOURNAL reaches nearly every family as well as business house in the county, and, therefore, advertisers seek its columns that the public may know what they have for sale.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

Herbert Coffin is happy.
Geo. Cutting is home again.
Houses are now being put in order for the winter.

Old-timers say we are going to have a cold, open winter.

Senator Jas. G. Fair came up from the Bay yesterday.

Supt. Bob. Keating was a passenger for the Bay last night.

Senator Brumsey, of Storey, is spoken of as President pro tem of the Senate.

An assessment of 20 cents per share has been levied by the California Mining Company.

Jacob Prescott has returned from Utah and Montana. Glad to know he intends to remain with us.

Charlie Richardson came in from Bodie last night. Looks hale and hearty. Glad to see him.

Thos. Freehill is down from Virginia.

Capt. Sam Curtis and Jas. G. Rule were passengers for the Bay last night.

Mrs. Sam Hilliard was on the wcs; bound train last night en route to Oakland. She has been at Jackson, Michigan.

All the variety stores are laying in large stocks of holiday goods. It looks as if Santa Claus would have a full sack this year.

It is currently stated that Major Gardner, the present Warden of the State Prison, will be Governor-elect Adams' private secretary.

Isaac N. Fassett, present Deputy Surveyor General, will settle in his old home, Wellsville, N. Y., after the expiration of his term of office.

White fish are quite plentiful in the Truckee, large numbers being caught daily. They are superior to trout, particularly during cold weather.

J. K. Everett is constantly adding to and replenishing his stock of groceries. This is the reason that goods purchased there are always fresh and palatable.

An immense quantity of freight is passing over the C. P. road at the present time. The railroad company find it difficult to procure the cars to move it.

Letters addressed to Master E. Roberts and Jas. Gault, Reno, and Miss Libbie Beebe, Steamboat, are held for postage in the office at Virginia City.

An almost continuous stream of beef cattle is passing westward now-a-days. Fat beef at the Bay is scarce and commands a higher price than at any time for years.

Geo. Troy is back from Truckee where he has been putting up some new buildings. As a brick mason and plasterer George has no equal in this section.

The Republican says the indications are that there will be quite an emigration of Truckees to Washington Territory in the Spring. All those who have located there are doing well.

Johnny Belz will vacate the old Wine House barber shop on the first of December and remove to the building immediately west of the Arcade Hotel, formerly occupied by Hammersmith.

The two little sons of Mrs. Glassett, the insane woman who recently beheaded her baby in the old quarry on the Geiger grade, have been sent to Grass Valley, Cal., and placed in charge of the Sisters of the convent there.

The Potosi Mining Company has levied an assessment of 25 cents per share, delinquent at the office on the 27th of December. This will knock somebody out of a Christmas present, unless the trustees will agree to extend the time.

Lew Drexler, who made himself famous in these parts in 1880, by the dexterity with which he manipulated the twenties in Uncle Jimmy's sack, was a passenger for the Bay last night having been up to take a look at some of his Comstock mortgages.

Important Decision.

In the United States Circuit Court at Carson, in the case of Buckley vs. the Gould & Curry Mining Company, Judge Sawyer gave his decision, in which Judge Sabin concurred, that the owner of a mine is not responsible for injuries sustained by a miner working underground through the carelessness of an engineer on the surface, hoisting and lowering men and material by machinery, while performing their respective work. The responsibility for harm of this sort does not extend further than to the co-workers underground, who, the law presumes, will take proper precaution steps to protect themselves against the negligence, untrustworthiness or lack of skill in their companions in labor.

Completed List of Registered Medical Practitioners.

Owing to the mislaying of a part of the list, the complete number of names of doctors who have entered their diplomas or certificates of practice with the County Recorder of Washoe county, failed to be published in yesterday's Journal. These are appended below and complete the total list of medical practitioners who have complied with the law:

A. J. Grover, March 17, 1875—copy diploma from Rook Island, Wisconsin, Medical College, Feb. 22, 1849.

S. Bishop, April 7, 1875—copy diploma from Physio-Medical Institute, Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 8, 1870.

J. T. Johnson, Sept. 8, 1876—copy diploma from Maryland Medical College, of Baltimore, March 7, 1848.

Geo. F. Thomas, May 26, 1876—copy diploma from Academy of Louis Third, Grand Duke of Hesse, June 27, 1871.

W. S. Springsteen, Dec. 6, 1878—copy of certificate of membership of National Eclectic Medical Association, of Indianapolis, Sept. 20, 1872.

H. F. Adams, Dec. 16, 1879—copy diploma from Missouri College of Medicine, St. Louis, March 11, 1874.

T. M. Hayden, July 27, 1877—copy diploma, Keokuk, Iowa, Medical College, June 18, 1874.

A. J. Grover, March 17, 1875—copy of diploma granted by Eclectic Medical College, of Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 3, 1855.

M. A. Chamberlin, March 29, 1879—copy of diploma granted by the St. Louis, Missouri, Homeopathic Medical College, Feb. 25, 1875.

W. M. Barrett, June 18, 1881—a fine traced copy of diploma, on linen paper, executed by C. B. Martin—diploma granted by the Missouri Medical College, St. Louis, March 4, 1880.

John A. Lewis, Oct. 10, 1878—copy diploma granted by Brooklyn, Long Island, College of Medicine, June 21, 1877.

"The Phoenix."

Theatre-goers should secure their seats without delay for the performance of the Milton Noble Company, the 28th inst. The company is a good one and have drawn crowded houses throughout the East wherever they have played. "The Phoenix," a new and strong piece, will be produced here. An eastern paper has this to say concerning it: To say that the play is a success but faintly expresses its many excellencies. It is without doubt the best production of the kind ever given in this city. From beginning to end it sparkles with wit, and overflows with exuberant humor. The dialogue is fresh, bright and breezy and many of the situations very funny. It is truly an American play, for in no place outside of America is the newspaper reviewer known in his narrative purity. There are reporters in these United States who would interview Queen Victoria upon the coast of her private jewels, Emperor William on his love for France, or the Russian deposit on the question of Judiac outrages. Such a character Mr. Nobles portrayed last evening as "Quillford Driveltown," familiarly known as "Quill-driver. That Mr. Nobles has more than once seen the inside of editorial and reportorial rooms in a practical way is made manifest by the technical manner in which the play, which he so cleverly presents, treats the subject matter. Mr. Nobles is an author as well as an actor and writes his own dramas.

Precautions Against Fire.

At this season of the year fires, that destroy much valuable property, are quite numerous. In some towns in the State the citizens have taken precautions to prevent a conflagration by enforcing the law relating to Fire Marshals. At Tuscarora the Fire Marshal made an examination of stovepipes, according to the Times-Review, and out of 310 inspected 35 were found defective and liable to cause a conflagration at any moment. There are undoubtedly several defective stovepipes in use in Reno and something ought to be done to prevent a conflagration from that source. In this case the truth of the old adage, "That an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is plainly apparent.

Storey's Vote for Congressman.

The Virginia Chronicle of last evening says: A Chronicle reporter looked over the tally lists to-day and found the JOURNAL to be correct as to the vote of the Fourth Ward. The mistake was not the Chronicle's fault. The error was in the official tally, which has been since made right. The Chronicle's table has been corrected.

Newspaper Change.

Having leased the Eureka Leader, Walter Marsden has sold the Ruby Hill Mining News to W. J. Penrose. Mr. Penrose has lately developed a remarkable aptness for newspaper work and under his management the News is certain to be the brightest and best outside weekly in the State.

For Sergeant-At-Arms.

Sheriff B. C. Thomas, of Lander, will be a candidate for Sergeant-at-Arms of the next State Senate.

Politeness Supreme.

Reno can boast of two of the most polite and self-sacrificing men in the world. They are paragons of generosity and genteel regard of others. These gentlemen are Nasby and Judge Cossett. Yesterday when the weather was cold and cheerless outside, the Judge entered Nasby's Bazaar to purchase a cigar. After receiving it the Judge in a most affable and polite manner inquired of Nasby, "Will the smoke of this cigar be offensive to you? If not, I would amazingly enjoy the privilege of sitting by your warm stove while I smoke it; yet if the odor and fumes arising therefrom will be in the least obnoxious to your olfactory nerves, I will retire outside, although the weather be inclement and sit on yonder dry good's box while I consume this little purchase?" Nasby, burning with zeal and goodness of heart, bowing low with politeness, assured the Judge, in the most bland style imaginable, that the smoke or odor from the cigar would not be in the least offensive to him. On the contrary he never felt himself so much in his element as when surrounded by the halo and divine effluvia of the smoke of a really good cigar; and, as the inclemency of the weather forbade him thrusting a kind patron and gentleman out of doors, he would esteem it a high compliment, and especial favor, if the Judge would sit by his fire while he enjoyed his fragrant weed; and suiting his actions to his words, Nasby seized the Judge by the hand and led him to the stove, and seating him in his big armed, cushioned chair, placed his feet upon the fender. Then going into the backroom he brought out a pillow, from his bed, and with great care arranged it behind the Judge's head, where the Judge reclined until the last whiff scorched his moustache and the room was dense and stifling with the smoke and odor of the cigar. Then leisurely arising and showering a profusion of thanks and gratitude upon his host, the Judge rushed out into the open and pure air. Nasby got the doors open, and the room cleared as soon as possible, swearing that he would rather have given five dollars than to have had his stock of fancy goods scented up with such an abominable stench; but he had made it a rule of his life never to allow anybody to be more polite than himself, and he would be eternally d— not if he would break that lifelong rule, now, at his age, even if he had to sacrifice the price of two such cigars.

California for December.

This popular magazine comes for the closing month of the year with a table of contents fully as interesting as that of any preceding numbers among which will be found "The Bancroft Historical Library," by Francis Fuller Victor. "A Contemporary of Washington," a Second Chapter, which is very entertaining reading, by Alfred A. Wheeler. "Arab Song," Margaret Ellett; "Wandering Joe," T. H. Adams; "The Dead Hero," Max A. Theilig; "Thuloe," Chaps. XIV., XV., XVI., Leonard Kip; "By Stage and Rail," Warren Cheney; "The Face in the Picture," Emily Brown Powell; "Carlo Goldwin," Charlotte Adams; "Down the Mississippi," W. W. W.; "Simon Kingley of San Minetos," L. T. Dakin; "In Arcadia," T. P. Widney; "The Study of Short Hand," T. S. Van Dyke; Late Publications and "Outcroppings."

Norman Horses.

Jas. A. Perry, the well-known importer and breeder of Norman horses, of Wilmington, Will county, Illinois, returned from France on the 29th of August, with another lot of fine horses, of which more particular mention will be made in a future issue. On this trip he brought over thirty-one Normans—stallions and one mare. Sixteen of them are gray, seven black, five bay, and three roan. In age they range from two to five years, and in weight from 1,700 to 2,100 pounds. He will sell these horses at from $1,400 to $2,000 each, and will give from one to three years credit, if desired, on approved security.

Speaker of the Assembly.

The Austin Reveille rises to remark: "C. S. Varian, Assemblyman-elect from Washoe county, will be a candidate for Speaker of the Assembly. He has had much legislative experience, is talented, correct and decisive, and in every way well fitted for the position, where such qualifications are eminently demanded. Mr. Varian deserves to be, and doubtless will be the next Speaker of the Assembly."

Reno Guard Hop.

The Reno Guard will give a social hop on Thanksgiving night at the company armory. The price of admission will be $1 for gentlemen and ladies, and the company intend giving every one their money's worth of dancing. The beat of music will be engaged and a very pleasant evening passed. Read ad. in another column.

Insolvent.

Frederick Boegle, of Virginia City, has filed a petition in insolvency. Liabilities, $17,818 41; assets $14,000, consisting of stock in stores in San Francisco and Virginia City.

A Keen Rebuke.

He was one of Reno's curled darlings dressed in the latest style with a bewilderingly small hat and jaunty cane, and was on his way for a saunter in the neighborhood of one of the female colleges of which the riverside burg is so justly proud. Just as he passed, a bevy of beautiful maidens, handsome as bours, tripped lightly forth, and with light laughter and chattering, proceeded up the street just in advance of "ye beautiful youth." He was instantly smitten with one of the damsels, whose face was a study and who tripped along the embodiment of grace and beauty. The dapper little Renoit camped in her trail and watched from afar as a cat would a mouse. He was in despair at no chance offering itself to open the way to an encounter, when he suddenly stopped transfixed with delight. At his feet lay something white, presumably dropped by some of the fair feminines. He rushed forward and returning the handkerchief, sought with the audacity of the average Renoit, to open conversation. "A very gay party you have miss." "Yes," says she, quietly bowing acknowledgment of the handkerchief, and letting her beautiful Peavine-sky-hued eyes slowly drift over him, "but then, you see, we know each other." He wilted, and in a half second the next corner obscured the sight of his outaway coat.

A $20 Bible Reward.

The publishers of Rutledge's Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for December, among which is the following:

We will give $20 in gold to the person telling us how many verses there are in the New Testament Scriptures (not the New Revision) by December 10th, 1892. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided. The money will be forwarded to the winner December 15th, 1892. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the Christmas Monthly, in which the name and address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published. This may be worth $20 to you; cut it out. Address, RUTLEDGE PUBLISHING COMPANY, Easton, Penn'a.

Fishing at Pyramid.

The Truckee Republican understands that tons of fish are being caught in Pyramid and Mud lakes daily. At the latter place a number of white men, Italians and Chinese are fishing, while none but Indians are allowed to take trout from Pyramid lake. The fish sell for eight cents per pound at the lakes. They are mostly shipped to Sacramento and San Francisco. A few find their way to the Comstock. No matter how many they have on hand the Indians will not sell for less than eight cents, and if they cannot get their price they will let them spoil on their hands or destroy them.

Sheep on Cow Creek.

The Laabo Avalanche learns that Howell and Sibley, who recently purchased the Westgate ranch on Cow Creek, intend to winter 5,000 head of sheep on the ranch and will increase the number to 20,000 next Spring. The Avalanche has heard it stated by some that sheep destroy the range for cattle—in fact, kill the bunch grass entirely where they graze; while those engaged in the sheep business deny the truth of the statement, and assert that there is sufficient room for both, allowing that they do destroy the range for other stock.

Bear It In Mind.

Remember the entertainment of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at their reading rooms this evening. There will be some very interesting literary exercises. Refreshments of a more substantial nature will also be served. The expense will be trifling for indulging in these luxuries. Help the ladies out.

Pleasant Weather.

The weather is delightful; the days are warm, as in early Fall, but the nights are generally quite cool.

Now Is Your Chance.

Miss M. A. Harney is selling out her entire stock at reduced rates. She accordingly invites all the ladies to come and examine her stock and assures them they may obtain all millinery and fancy goods at a great bargain, as she must dispose of her present stock.

Mother! Mother!! Mother!!! Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer at once—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. Jan 10-17-92 W.F.F.W.

The ladies all think the Royal Sewing Machines for sale by Osburn & Shoemaker are just perfection. They turn either way and sew straight along—run easy and noiseless. Go and see them by all means.
